1990-91 • Ingveldur Yr Jonsdottir (Inga) resides in Iceland and writes, "I sang in the opening concert and was a finalist in the Meistersinger competition in 1991. Best of thanks for a wonderful program; it served me very well in my career!" Thanks for the update, Inga. Her website is www.songstudio.ehf.is/english.

2006 • Elisabeth Schwarz (née Grabner) (Meistersinger 2nd Place) is currently under contract with the Salzburger Landestheater and the Theater Baden. In the summer of 2008 she sang in the Lèhar Festival in Bad Ischl.

1995 • Stephanie Weiss (soprano '95, '00) was a winner at the Missouri state MET auditions held in February, 2001. She is now focusing on mezzo repertoire and is under contract with the Deutsche Oper Berlin and is scheduled for guest appearances in Frankfurt and at the Berliner Staatsoper unter den Linden.

1998 • Amanda Mace (soprano '98, '00; '00 Meistersinger Competition Winner) sang on the Evelyn Lear/Thomas Stewart 2nd Annual "Emerging Singers" concert (sponsored by the Wagner Society) in 2001 at the German Embassy in Washington, DC. She was accompanied by Betty Bullock (AIMS faculty member, '84-'98, '00-'07). Music critic Phillip W. Raines wrote, "...A knowledgeable and enthusiastic audience greeted five young singers who gave electrifying performances of Wagnerian music and who literally had this audience cheering wildly at the end in support of the raw energy, fine singing, and excellent musicianship displayed throughout the evening...Amanda Mace negotiated the valleys and summits of "Dich teure Halle" quite well. The voice is enormous. More than a large voice, it is an extremely accurate voice in pitch and intonation. And then, there were the warmer tangerine tones in the high range that won me over. Ms. Mace has had training in how to use facial expressions to her advantage. Sieglinde, however, was the blockbuster...she let loose with "Du bist der Lenz" with no swooping, swapping (of pitch), or slurring (of line). The voice filled the hall, richly and warmly. The internal intensity she was portraying swept over the audience...this young artist has the goods both vocally and dramatically to become a great one. Watch this name."

In 2007, she performed the role of Elsa in Die Meistersinger at the Wagner Festspiel, Bayreuth, Germany and in December sang one of the Walküries in Die Walküre at the Vienna Staatsoper. In 2008-10 she is contracted to sing Tosca and Ariadne at the Vienna Volksoper and to appear in performances of Die Walküre at the Staatsoper. (Amanda was a student of Gustavo Halley in Kansas City.)

1999 • Chad Johnson (tenor) was one of 4 winners in the MET Opera auditions in Buffalo and 2nd place winner at the Great Lakes Regional auditions in January, 2007. Also in January, he was engaged by Maestro James Levine to sing Ferrando at the Tanglewood Music Festival. "Maestro Levine offered me the role immediately following the audition in a one on one meeting in his office. It was a surreal and exciting experience to sit across from James Levine and have him compliment me on my singing and tell how excited HE was to work with ME this summer." In March, he sang Ferrando (Così fan tutte) with Connecticut Opera (Hartford) and then the Spring Concert Tour for Santa Fe Opera. He also appeared as Ruggero (La Rondine) at Lyric Opera San Diego and Alfredo (La Traviata) at Mobile Opera. In 2008, Chad will sing Ralph (HMS Pinafore) in Nashville, Ferrando (Così fan tutti) in Sarasota and Paolino (Il matrimonio segreto) in Brooklyn.
